

Amateur Radio

Emergency

When disaster strikes, amateur radio is on hand to help. Using the same skills developed in the community amateur radio provides skilled operators who are formally recognised by the international relief agencies. Amateur Radio helps provide reliable communications during earthquakes, floods and air disasters throughout the world.

& Community Radio

Every day radio amateurs put their skills to the test providing reliable communications for community events up and down the country. The London Marathon, car rallies, fun runs, carnivals, village fetes and air shows all benefit from this invaluable resource provided by Britain's Radio Amateurs.

If you want to help your community or take an interest in other areas of this fascinating and worthwhile hobby, become a radio amateur.
